III. READING (2.5 pts):

PART 1: Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 21 to 25.

Trees are useful to man in three very important ways: they provide him with wood and other products; they give him shade; and they help to prevent droughts and floods. Unfortunately, in many parts of the world, man has not realized that the third of these services is the most important. In his eagerness to draw quick profit from the trees, he has cut them down in large numbers.

Two thousand years ago, a rich and powerful country cut down its trees to build warships, with which to gain itself an empire. It gained the empire but, without its trees, its soil became bare and poor. When the empire fell to pieces, the country found itself faced by floods and starvation.

Even though the government realizes the importance of a plentiful supply of trees, it is difficult sometimes to make the people realize this. They cut down the trees but are too careless to plant and look after new trees. So, unless the government has a good system of control or can educate the people, the forests will slowly disappear.

Question 24. What can be inferred from the passage about the country that cut down its trees to build warships?

A. Its empire remained powerful for thousands of years.

B. Its people successfully prevented floods by planting new trees.

C. Cutting down trees contributed to environmental problems that led to its decline.

D. Its government understood the importance of protecting forests from the beginning.

Question 25. What is the main idea of the passage?

A. Trees are mainly valuable because they provide wood for human use.

B. Governments should focus on building strong warships to protect their countries.

C. Deforestation can cause serious environmental problems, so forests must be protected.

D. People should cut down trees to develop their countries economically.

PART 2: Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the word or phrase that best fits each of the numbered blanks from 26 to 30.

Families can function well if everyone is able to communicate their needs and wants to communicate with each other in a (26) _____ way. This can be hard if you are feeling frustrated, angry, hurt or sad. Sometimes it can be better to wait until intense feelings have passed, so that you can more calmly communicate what is (27) _____ for you and what you need and want. You may not always get what you want straight away and you might have to be (28) _____ and learn the art of negotiation and compromise.

Learning to negotiate is a great way to work things out, so everyone comes out winning. For example, you might agree to help with chores around the house, (29) _____ you can go to the movies. It's important to stick to your side of the agreement - this builds trust and respect. Talking things through can be really helpful, particularly if you are worried about your family relationships. It's important to identify someone in your family (30) _____ you feel is understanding and supportive.
